PERSISTENCE OF FRIENDS BRINGS SICK MAN TO HEALTH

Refuse to Take No For Answer—Godly Folk
But Selfish Barred Way to Healing—Ecclesiastical Red Tape Worst of All Varieties—Life's Pressing Problems Theological

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS
and EARL J. DOUGLASS

The keyword of today's Sunday school lesson is "opposition." We see the best and wisest man who ever lived beginning to meet the organized and bitter hatred of men for whom religion was a matter of power politics. They saw in this young Teacher a deadly enemy, because he unmasked the perfidy of their lives, the insolence of their usurpations.

Overlapping Barriers.
Fame had followed the healings of Jesus. So densely did the crowds dog his footsteps that he left the city for a sojourn in the desert. Days later he returned to Capernaum, and so eager were the people to see and hear him that they thronged the entrance of the house in which he was stopping.

On the outskirts of the crowd was a paralytic, borne on his pallet by four friends. Apparently the man's plight was a consequence of his own sins; nevertheless, he must have had an attractive personality, for he held the loyalty of these four faithful and resourceful men. When the crowd about the healer proved an insurmountable barrier, this dauntless quartette made their way to the roof, and with an audacious sense of relative values, tore up the tiles and let their friend down into the presence of Jesus and of the amazed company. Anybody who wants anything as badly as these four men wanted healing for their friend is pretty sure to get it.

Determination brings triumph. Most of us want little boons lightly. Our desires are trivial and transitory. Lack of tremendous purpose and passion seems to mark these dilettante days. An infusion of first-rate ambition into youth would cure half the cheap little sins that afflict them. A great love, a great longing, a great loyalty often have more educational value than four years spent in college.

"Covet earnestly the best gifts," wrote the Apostle; which may be fairly paraphrased: "Go after the things most worth while, with burning heart and tremendous purpose." The road to health and health and happiness lies over the crowds and the roof and through the tiles of difficulty.

If the leaders and masses of the world would but use the Kingdom of God as given, then they would carry their woes, weaknesses, and wrongs to the Healer who possesses cure. Scripture declares and experience proves that Jesus Christ alone, the remedy for all that is wrong with this world, both as a collection of nations and of individuals. Jesus has the help which every sort of humanity needs. There would be no work for divorce courts if unhappy husbands and wives would resort to Jesus. Hate would not rule between classes if both accepted the Saviour's way of love. All the discordances and inharmonies are healed by the Great Physician.

Forgiveness and Healing.
There was a terrible fury raised when Jesus said, "Son, they sins are forgiven thee." Looking straight into this man's heart and need, Jesus saw clearly the basic trouble. Sin was at the root of the man's affliction, as it is at the root of most of ours.

The world's problems are mainly theological. The world is sick because it is held in the power of sin. "Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit" is the divine directive for individuals and na-

(1939 levels equal 100 on the index.) The Federal Reserve Board said the week which ended Feb. 2 was the third in a row during which business loans fell off.

The senate agriculture group called in additional government officials today in hope of getting more information on the market decline, which seemed late yesterday to have come to a halt.

Testimony Sited
Chairman Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) planned to hear testimony by commerce department officials who handle exports of wheat, flour and other exports; commodity exchange administration officers who have been buying up supplies to send overseas; and other witnesses.

Thye and Young were critical of the way the government has handled foreign aid buying and farm price support programs.

"The farm outlook is not too good," Young told a reporter after the hearings yesterday. "We seem to be getting back to the same point as in 1937-40, when we imported or bought elsewhere more farm products than we exported."

If wheat, corn and other crops pile up in this country and prices continue below the level of government supports, Young said, the

SPIES

And German sources still in Japan said Sorge operated so secretly that the Soviet embassy for a time feared he might have been spying on it.

The army account of the operations says that.

Three Japanese who used to live in America were in the ring, one at the top level.

This ring knew the trend of Japanese-American negotiations in the critical summer and fall of 1941. It had an "in" with Japan's premier Konoe.

But there is no hint it got a tip on the Pearl Harbor raid.

Some second-hand information leaked from the American embassy in Tokyo.

An American diplomat Harbin, Manchuria, Vice-Consul Tycho L. Liljestrom, let two Soviet agents stay at his home and one set up an illegal radio station, the report says.

That was in 1939. At that time, an earlier and probably bigger ring was at work in China. But it was far less spectacular.

There is nothing in the report about any tie-in with Soviet espionage in this country. But one name in the report appears rather obscurely in still-secret testimony taken last year at the spy hearings on the House un-American Activities Committee.

Barest Details.
Japan released only the barest details about the ring and the spies and convictions of 17 people at the time. The U. S. Army found out about them after occupation forces moved in.

Many of the minor figures in the ring were released as political prisoners. The army report indicated that maybe that wouldn't happen if the Americans had it to do over again. At that time, it said, few people had the idea that a Soviet spy who had worked against the Japanese might later work against the United States.

Sorge was a professional German Communist posing as an awingering Nazi. He used a newspaper assignment as a cover, and the German embassy in Tokyo as if he owned it.

Hozumi was another newspaperman and writer. He became an adviser to the cabinet and confidante of the "brain trust" of Prince-Primer Konoe. He was consulted of the highest secrets, and sent them on to Moscow.

No Russians.
There were no Russians in the ring. That was a rule. Mostly there were Japanese and a few Germans.

Three of the Japanese lived in Los Angeles for years. The report goes on.

Miyagi Yotoko was an artist and key man. His wife, Kiyama Koji, was a pianist and the only member of the gang in it for money. Mrs. Kitabayashi Tomo was a dressmaker and the threat that unraveled the whole network.

Sorge, the report says, was able to keep Russia "fully informed on Japanese military and industrial capabilities and intentions from 1933 to 1941. The Red army always knew of the status of current Japanese war plans, and could make their own plans and dispositions accordingly."

While serving the Moscow masters, Sorge cultivated the German ambassador in Tokyo and his staff so well they told him almost anything, asked his advice, and let him see secret papers. He had a camera handy.

Eventually, he joined the staff as press attaché.

Sorge had come to Japan after

Commodity Credit Corporation, which makes these loans, "may take a terrific licking."

Chairman Thomas said all senators will be interested in the trading checkup ordered by Brannan "to see if short selling caused these declines."

Brannan proposed two other moves yesterday that may stiffen domestic farm prices.

He wrote House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) suggesting that the Commodity Credit Corporation should be given authority to swap farm products with foreign nations for strategic and critical materials. He also asked government authority to buy and store farm products.

AUSTIN, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The Railroad Commission today set these hearings:

March 25, to determine productive acreage assigned all wells completed in sand 13, North Minnie Block field, Nueces county.

March 24, application of Humble Oil and Refining Co., for discovery allowable and new field designation for its Santa Fe Ranch well No. 1, Brooks field.

The hearing set for March 9 on application of Fred M. Manning, Inc., for establishment of a new gas field in an area two miles north of Mathis, was indefinitely postponed.

getting a foreign correspondent's assignment from the Frankfurter Zeitung and three other papers.

He had one wife in Russia and another, a school teacher, in the United States.

Another top-notch member of the ring, Branko De Voukitch, would discuss the same problems with newspaper friends who had access to the American, French and British embassies and often had semi-official views from diplomatic contacts.

A highly placed friend got Ozaki lined up as adviser to the cabinet on Chinese affairs. He had access to state papers and the ears of key officials.

Later, he had an almost equally strategic spot with the South Manchurian railway, which was more of a political empire than a business firm.

Dispatches To Moscow.
Sorge would take his information, weigh it, check it and then write his dispatches to Moscow.

Some went out by radio, some on microfilm by courier to Shanghai and some to the Soviet embassy.

De Voukitch's home was used as a photographic laboratory.

German, Max Klausen, was the radio operator. He had been in the spy ring in China with Sorge and Ozaki.

Sorge dealt only with the higher strata of the spy ring. Ozaki and Miyagi ran minor rings that fed the top circle.

There are some parallels to the testimony obtained by the U. S. congressional spy probes—rings within rings, infiltration into high places in government, couriers, microfilms, furtive meetings.

Some of the little people in the Tokyo ring, the army says, didn't know for whom they were working. They knew only that they were helping "the cause."

They committed "treason without hesitation."

And the results were things like these:

Warning Flashed.
Back on May 20, 1941, he "flashed" the urgent warning that the Japanese would concentrate from 170 to 190 divisions on the Soviet border, and on 20 June would attack along the whole frontier. The main direction of the drive would be toward Moscow.

The attack actually came June 22. As August closed, the master spy learned the German embassy had lost hope Japan would go to war against Russia, that year.

Since Ozaki was so close to Konoe, the key man in the negotiations Sorge got "full and accurate" information on U. S.-Japanese diplomatic bargaining.

By Oct. 1 Sorge had passed along "his final sober conclusions that the Japanese had decided to move south and that there now was no serious danger of an attack by the Kwangtung army across the Siberian frontier."

Pair Arrested.
Three days later Sorge and Klausen were under arrest.

It happened this way:

Ring members were supposed to have no dealings with Japanese Communists. Mrs. Kitabayashi (Tomo) evidently followed orders.

Communist Ito Ritsu thought he had turned against Communism and apparently wanted to get even with her. So without knowing she was one, he told the police she was a spy.

The police picked her up Sept. 28, 1941. By Oct. 18 they had rounded up the whole crowd.

Sorge and Ozaki were hanged three years later. Miyagi died of tuberculosis during the trial. De Voukitch died in prison. The report suggests there may have been torture to make him talk.

Klausen got a life sentence. The report indicates he and his wife, a minor and unwilling spy, may be living in Russia. He was one of those freed by the Americans.

Other Rings.
Apparently there were other rings operating independently.

The report says somebody in the Sorge ring squealed on Nakanishi Ko, who led a Russian spy ring in China. The police picked him up in Shanghai. He was tried and got a life sentence.

Let out of prison by the Americans, Nakanishi ran in last April's election as a member of the Japanese parliament.

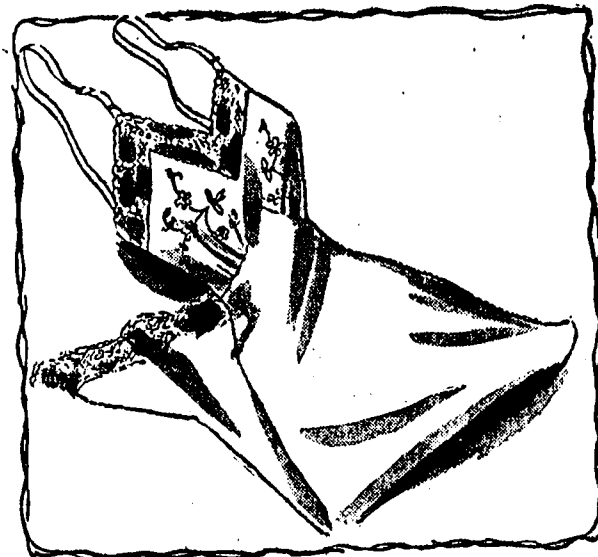

And Ito Ritsu is a member of the Central committee of the party—one of the four or five top Reds in Japan.

CARD OF THANKS.
We wish to take this means to thank all who were so kind and thoughtful at the burial of our son and brother, David C. McNeal, and for the many beautiful floral offerings. We especially want to thank Rev. Goff and Rev. Jenkins who conducted the funeral, and the American Legion and to all our friends and neighbors—C. H. McNeal and Family.

LABOR

Denham, in his testimony, defended many Taft-Hartley provisions which the administration's labor bill would junk.
Before the Neely-Taft clash, Randolph had read a statement calling for quick repeal of the Taft-Hartley law. It said that retaining the act "would spell the doom of the free American trade union movement."
The committee also got from John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers a proposal that the Taft-Hartley law be repealed and the nation go without any labor relations law for a while. A statement the UMW filed said that the meantime unions, management and government could together shape new legislation to replace the Taft-Hartley Act.

The UMW statement hit at Senator Taft. It called him a "Lucifer of labor relations."
Randolph, discussing the 1947 conversations with Denham, said Denham had indicated then that the Typographical Union was "off-side" and following an illegal course in refraining from signing new contracts with publishers which would bar the closed shop.
The Taft-Hartley law bans the closed shop—one in which only union members may be hired. Before its enactment, the typographical union (ITU) long had had a closed shop in many newspaper and other publishing plants.

ig had stopped, had resumed his trip. That was when he was caught by a bullet in the temple.
Chief Jailer Ed H. Morrow at the county jail said Gordon "paced the floor of his cell all night and wouldn't talk to anybody. About 5 a. m. today he lay down on his cot and apparently slept for a little while."
He refused to eat breakfast, but drank four cups of coffee.
"After he drank the coffee," said Morrow, "he just sat down in the middle of the floor in his cell, crosslegged, and stared."

to the rules committee, an action which in effect kills the measure.
A proposed popular vote to permit women to serve on justice of the peace and on school board amendment subcommittee. Both senate committee actions followed public hearings prior to the morning session.
Voices of democrats and republicans, labor, ministry, veterans' organizations and women's organizations joined in the senate committee hearing in support of submitting to the people the proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax voting requirement.
Bob Calvert of Hillsboro, former chairman of the State Democratic Executive committee, called it "a step toward broadened democracy."

Tyson Speaks
"Whatever constitutes a barrier between the people and the ballot box—except to preserve the purity of the ballot—undemocratic and should be removed," said Tom Tyson of Corsicana, secretary of the Democratic Executive committee.

Henry Swifelt of Fort Worth, chairman of the Republican State Executive committee, branded the poll tax law as "antiquated."
Attorney General Price Daniel testified that "poll taxes are on the way out." He said it was a question of whether the state lets its people do the job or lets the federal government do it for them.
Shar Floore of Fort Worth, representing the American Legion and Col. C. H. Fitzgerald of Galveston, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars, also spoke for the amendment. Robert Eckhardt of Dallas, representing a number of labor organizations, was present in behalf of the proposal.
Effort of Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe to send the proposal to subcommittee was beat down 5 and 3. Moffett then switched for a 6-to-2 vote to recommend its passage.

Women Testify
The poll tax was one of the civil rights issues that rocked the South in last fall's national election. The Texas Democratic party at Fort Worth last September called for a popular vote on the issue. Gov. Beauford H. Jester's message to the legislature suggested a voter registration law in the event voters choose to change the present system.
Creation of another medical school in Texas to meet pressing needs for more doctors was urged before a senate finance subcommittee yesterday.

Surplus Profits Cited
San Antonio medical authorities viewed as the state's "golden opportunity" the $15,000,000 surplus arsenal properties in San Antonio being offered without cost to the state if the school is established there.

A bill in the senate seeks a $1,000,000 appropriation for the conversion and maintenance of the general buildings for the school during the next biennium. It would be a branch of the University of Texas.
"Another school is the only answer to our shortage of doctors," A. J. (Jack) Lewis, president of the San Antonio Medical Foundation, told the committee.
Texas has one physician per 1,055 persons, compared to the national average of one physician per 831 persons, Dr. Royal Colder testified.

Wisconsin Centennial Pageant Film To Be Shown Here

One of the most impressive features of the Wisconsin Centennial Exposition, held at Milwaukee last August, is being brought her for public showing on Feb. 15 by Simon Daniels Co.

Playing to packed stands and overflow crowds every day for a week, the "March of Machines" and "Parade of P. I." was witnessed by thousands who came from practically every state of this country and province of Canada, plus visitors from various foreign lands. Inspired by its enthusiastic reception at the Centennial, sponsors of the pageant made color movies of the entire performance. That's how scores of costumed performers, yokes of oxen and teams of horses, ancient implements and quaint machines, can be shown here.

Actually the swift-moving show is an epic of 5,000 years of human progress from the discovery of slaves at the dawn of history to the machines and implements of the last century, all but the latest of which are already obsolete. Some are museum pieces, restored and actually operated but probably the last time. To all out of timers, it brings a first glimpse of sweep-power and tumbling rods, tooting steam engines, and the art of hand-folding.

Also in color is a cartoon-sequenced film, "Saga of Sawdust Sam," an easy-to-take lesson in farm safety. Combining the full program will be one of the Case sound-movies on soil conservation practices, chosen for its suitability for the methods and conditions prevailing in this community. While the show is being arranged primarily for farmers, it is of general interest and everybody will be welcome to the limit of seating capacity.

Sixty Personal Fouls Assessed During Contest

By TALMADGE CANANT
Sun Sports Staff

Navarro's Bulldogs hung a 69-57 defeat on LeTourneau Tech of Longview at junior high court here Wednesday night in a fast conference game which left the two teams with an even split for their two games against each other this season.

The win was all the sweeter for the fact that Navarro had to come from behind to do it, and finished the game going away.

It was a fine game for the spectators, with plenty of speed, but the referees worked almost as hard as the players. They called a total of 60 personal fouls in the contest.

B Team Lower
The Navarro B string rallied too late, and lost a close 31-29 curtain raiser to the visiting B team, after trailing by a considerably larger margin for most of the game.

Though LeTourneau lost, and was unhappy about it, one of their players grabbed high point honors for the night. He was Coffman, a hefty center weighing over 200 pounds who had plenty of speed for his weight and a shooting eye good for 24 points. John Kenner grabbed 20 for Navarro for runner up honors.

Many Changes
The Bulldogs got off to a slow start in the A game. LeTourneau had 8 points before Navarro scratched first on Don Granger's long one-hander, and the locals started a long, hard climb to finally come out on top midway in the first half at 15-11. For all practical purposes, the ball game was virtually decided right there, for the lead changed hands five times before the half ended with Navarro on top, 30-26.

There was still fight left in the visitors in the second half. They trailed by a few points and then tied it up at 45-45 after 9 minutes of the second half, but the Bulldogs pulled away at 49-47, and then the roof fell in on the visitors.

Deciding Scores
John Kenner, Bill Reed and Hodges slipped loose for consecutive field goals, ruining the score to 52-47, and from then on out LeTourneau was never within striking distance as Navarro turned loose its fast break. Later three of LeTourneau's starters fouled out of the ball game, as did Charlie Smith and Don Granger for the locals.

The Navarro pups lagged behind the whole game with the LeTourneau B team, but made their best bid in the closing minutes of the game, when they pulled up to 22-21. Jack Holland and Hal Gene Murphy took scoring honors for the locals with 10 and 8 points, respectively.

Corsicana Junior Panthers Defeat Jesuit Courtmen

The ace Corsicana Junior High Panther cagers rapped out another win to add to their string Wednesday night, trimming the Jesuit Juniors in Dallas on their home court, 41-32 for the 13th win against two losses for the local cagers.

Bill Hay's crew held a narrow lead throughout most of the game, and pulled away in the final quarter on good play by Bobby Galt, Clovis Lewis and Don Tuberville. Galt grabbed high point honors for the Panthers with 12 points.

Play Here Tonight
The Panthers make a home appearance tonight at the local court at 7 o'clock, playing the Purdon High school team in another exhibition game.

Hay's crew will return to Waco Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock to play North Waco's Juniors in the second round of the Jaycees tourney there. If they win, they play in the finals Saturday night.

LeTourneau's coaching and players registered repeated protests on the officiating in the "A" game, but statistics of the game showed that fouls were evenly divided—LeTourneau with 31 personal and Navarro with 29 for a total of 60 fouls in the game more than the usual average.

Local Quintet Is Unable To Match Shots With Waco

The Waco Tigers-turned back Corsicana's Tigers for the second time this season Tuesday night, overpowering the locals on the Waco court, 70-42.

Waco with that game virtually sacked up the district title, and Corsicana remained in second place. Waco has games with Cleburne and Waxahachie remaining in the district race, while Corsicana has games with Hillsboro, Temple and Ennis.

Waco could not stop Leon Wylie and John Custer Tuesday night, but they threw up three boys that counted for just as many points each, and their other players counted more points than did Corsicana's other starters.

Waco Led All Way
It was Waco's game from the opening run. Coach Ole Pederson said today that the Wacoans had improved greatly since their first appearance here on Jan. 14, and that Major Keithly's crew should go far in the state race.

Waco's Billy Warburton was high man last night with 25 tallies, and Corsicana's Leon Wylie trailed him with 20.

The Waco B team trimmed the Corsicana Cubs in the curtain raiser, 31-20. Coach Billy Warburton led the B team scoring with 18 points for Waco.

Pederson said that both teams made mistakes, but that Keithly's crew was "hot," and couldn't miss the shot.

The loss erased virtually any chance of Corsicana grabbing the district crown. Waco would have to lose both of its next games, and Corsicana finish the season undefeated to bring about a tie.

English Teacher Addresses Local Group Wednesday

All children in England take an intelligence test at the age of 11 years, ten percent go to a grammar school and 90 percent to modern secondary or technical schools until 15. Miss Neta Whitcomb, South Wales, told the Corsicana Teachers association Wednesday afternoon.

A teacher of language and arts in the Cleburne Seventh Grade school on NEA exchange program, Miss Whitcomb had previously addressed the Corsicana Rotary Club and interested persons. A number of those who heard the address before the Rotarians attended the teachers meeting at 3:30 p. m. at the senior high school building.

J. H. Compton, principal of the Travis school and president of the local teachers, presided and introduced B. C. Jackson, Cleburne Junior High principal, who presented the speaker.

In the beginning of her remarks, the speaker emphasized the part of a teacher in instructing children and what education means—broadening the outlook and enabling one to better understand other peoples and doing a better job.

Miss Whitcomb emphasized differences of the Welsh and English somewhat like Texas and other sections in the U. S. The important thing is in the finished product from the schools, she said and then outlined the school system in England, with particular stress on the subjects, crafts, meals, etc.

Navarroans Erase Halftime Deficit, Take Decisive Win

Navarro Junior College came from behind a halftime deficit to win going away over the Westminster Junior College five Monday night in Wortham 51-39.

The game was an east zone conference affair. The Bulldogs had a miserable first half, missing a large percentage of their shots. They trailed at the halfway mark, 27-24, and it was not until well into the final canto that they took a commanding lead. When they did, however, they widened it to the final score without the Fabulous boys challenging in the late minutes.

The Kenner boys, Gerry and John, led the Navarro scoring, with 13 and 14 points, respectively, and were trailed closely by Roy Christman with 11. Westminster's Little tallied 10 for high honors for the home team.

Coach Ken Clark's boys make a home appearance Wednesday night Feb. 9 when the LeTourneau Tech crew of Longview comes to the junior high court here for another conference game. LeTourneau took a 49-45 decision from the Bulldogs in their first clash of the season in a longevous and Navarro will make a spirited bid to even the games.

Richland, Kerens Cagers Win First Tournament Tilt

Richland and Kerens boys and girls came through with wins in the first round of play in the East Zone District 19-B cage tourney which started Wednesday night at the Richland gym.

Play will continue tonight, with four games scheduled. Richland's boys trimmed the Mildred five, 27-12, with Joe Tidwell sparking them to the win with 14 points for high individual honors. Wanda Adams, 20 tallies led the Richland girls to a 34-17 conquest of the Mildred girls.

Kerens took a methodical 34-10 victory over the Rice boys, with Hulin Hill leading the Bobcats scoring with 10 tallies.

The Kerens girls, led by Mary Rhodes, who counted 11 points for the night, beat the Rice girls 18-10.

Officials for the games were Byron Currin and Hugh Parish, Jr., both of Corsicana. Four more games will be unrecalled at the Richland gym tonight in second round play. Kerens and

Mrs. Alice Wright Program Leader At Wortham Meet

WORTHAM, Feb. 10.—(SPL)—A Single Purpose through Our Mission Schools, with Mrs. Alice Wright as leader, provided the theme for the program of the Auxiliary of Central Presbyterian Women Monday afternoon meeting in the home of Mrs. Harry Bounds. With the president, Mrs. Cussie Weaver, presiding, the program was preceded with general meeting, when a number of reports, important business and dates were announced. Arrangements were made for the attendance to the Presbyterian meeting in Waxahatchie Friday. Mrs. Gertrude Irvine will be guest speaker. Mrs. Irvine, president of the National Council of Women's Organization of the Presbyterian Church U. S. A., attended the Amsterdam conference.

Mrs. H. C. Meador offered the devotional message: "Where shall wisdom be found? and where is the place of understanding?" reading Job 28:12-28. With continuation of this devotional she presented in travelogue a brief survey of Presbyterian mission schools and colleges in U. S. A. and Alaska, answering questions of the discussion: "Are Mission schools worth our support?" "Give us Christian schools for our children?" "Can it be proved that mission schools actually do produce leaders for a time like ours?"

Assisting on the subject were Mesdames Lynn Adams, J. T. Dymwright, John Mekey and Karl Kunkle. Mesdames Marjory Smith and Franklin Simmons assisted the hostess during the social hour.

George Fort and Marjory Fort were in Dallas Sunday to visit their grandson and brother, respectively, Bill Fort, who is in the Scottish Rite Hospital, the occasion was marked with importance, as it was Bill's birthday—seven years old. They found Bill improving and very happy enjoying his presents, cards, and a lovely birthday cake. They left him looking forward to his birthday party at six o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Stubbs and Mrs. Alice Wright were in Waco Tuesday.

Mrs. Charnice Bounds and Mrs. Hiram Boyd left Wednesday for Huntsville, to visit their daughters, who are students in Sam Houston College.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Meador and Mrs. R. G. Poindexter were Dallas visitors Tuesday.

Allan Bounds suffered a head injury, when he fell at his home

Two DWI Cases Set For Trial

County Attorney Charles Banister announced Thursday that the case of the State of Texas vs. John T. Post, driving while intoxicated (13,573) has been set for trial in county court on Tuesday, Feb. 15.

The case of the State of Texas vs. Henry B. Horn, alias Lover Horn, driving while intoxicated, has been set for the same date, he said.

William B. Slay Dies Thursday; Services Friday

KERENS, Feb. 10.—(SPL)—William B. Slay, aged 88 years, retired farmer of this community, died at the P. and S. Hospital, Corsicana, at 12:30 o'clock Thursday morning, following a short illness. Funeral services will be held from the Kerens Baptist church Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. Milton O. Davis, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Kerens cemetery.

A native of Roanoke, Ala., Slay came to Burleson county, near Caldwell, in early childhood. Slay had resided 2 1/2 miles north of Kerens for 37 years.

He had been a member of the Baptist church 67 years and had served many years as a deacon.

Surviving are two sons, Tom Slay, Robstown, and Sam Slay, Kerens; three daughters, Mrs. Willard Mayo, Kerens; Mrs. Jim Crowley, Livermore, Calif.; and Mrs. Raymond Wylie, Montfort; 15 grandchildren, six great-grandchildren, and a half-sister, Mrs. E. P. McKinney, Dallas, and other relatives.

Stockton Funeral Home will direct.

Transferred to Tyler.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Westbrook, III, and sons, Tommy and Jimmy, left Monday for Tyler, where Mr. Westbrook will serve as credit manager for Sears Roebuck and Company. Mr. Westbrook has held a similar position with the local company, and friends are congratulating him upon his promotion to a larger field of service.

early Tuesday morning He was carried to Mexico hospital, where he is reported resting very well.

Mesdames John Munroe and Anabelle Morse visited in Corsicana Friday.

Mrs. Joe Bates left Tuesday for Fort Worth, where she is visiting her mother and daughter's family.

VA Official Is Civilian Speaker Thursday Noon

Fred W. Fonville, chief of the local Veterans' Administration guidance center was the principal speaker at the Thursday session of the Civilian Club here.

Fonville's office here gives aptitude and dexterity tests for veterans under the GI Bill of Rights, and counsel them on the kind of vocation they are suited for and can perform as well as anyone else.

"We are doing a job with the veterans that should have been done years ago in every high school and college in the land," Fonville asserted.

"We do not dictate to a veteran what vocation he must take up. We merely advise what vocation he is best suited for, on the basis of our tests," the VA chief said.

"In the case of the disabled veteran, we try to fit him for a job that he can hold on a par with the fellow who doesn't have a disability."

It was Fonville's second appearance before the Civilians, his first having been about two years ago when he was transferred to this area. Dr. Erwin and H. W. Keathley were on the program committee for the day. Travis Knight and Tom Orr were named to that committee for the Feb. 17 session.

Morris Battle presided in the absence of President Glen Thompson, and announced that efforts to organize a Civilian Club in Kerens were to be renewed.

The club voted to make its contribution to the March of Dimes campaign here.

The Civilian Club Ladies' Night was set for Feb. 24 at Kinsloe House at 7:30.

Dr. McClung was a visitor at the session.

Two City Checks Remain Uncashed

Under the glass on a desk at the Whiteside Brick and Lumber Co. rests a check for $135.

It is a good check, too, and represents $135 worth of individualism, very rugged.

The money represents one-third of the board of equalization costs for 1948, and is made payable to Sidney K. Brietz, one of the members.

The check isn't alone in being outstanding. One for the same amount is held by Joe E. Butler, another member of the board. Butler hasn't taken his pay, either.

Brietz announced at the time of serving on the board that he didn't want any money for it.

"Why don't you give it to some charitable organization?" he was asked Thursday.

"Do you know of any organization needing charity more than the city of Corsicana?" Brietz countered.

Salary Bonuses.

PARIS —(AP)—Frenchmen with families are paid more than a single man.

In the Paris region, a man with four children, whose wife does not work, gets 18,250 francs monthly (60 dollars) in addition to his salary. For a father of eight children, the bonus is $19,800 francs ($1,000) a year.

Couple Apart For Two Generations Starts Life Over

BRISTOW, Okla., Feb. 9.—(AP)—An elderly couple is starting life anew today after a separation of two generations.

They are Berkeley Burris, 72, and Mrs. Ella Mershon, 65, married for the second time to each other yesterday in Mrs. Mershon's modest home here.

Burris, an old-age pensioner of Plainview, Texas, and his wife were separated in 1906 when he left to look for a job. They lost touch with each other, finally giving up hope that either was alive.

Mrs. Mershon remarried.

Last week, Burris discovered his wife's whereabouts through a chance meeting with her brother in Plainview, and came to Bristow to be reunited.

However, soon changed her mind and asked her long-lost husband to return.

After the simple ceremony yesterday, neighbors who had raised funds to make the marriage possible, congratulated the couple and quietly filed out of the home.

"We just want to be left alone now," Mrs. Burris said.

Mrs. B. H. Barnette Dies On Tuesday; Rites Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. B. H. Barnette, aged 78 years, resident of Corsicana 45 years, who died at the Navarro Clinic Tuesday at 11:30 a. m., will be held from the Griffin Funeral Chapel Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery. The rites were conducted by Rev. Herbert G. Dudley, pastor of the First Christian church, of which Mrs. Barnette had been a long and active member.

Mrs. Barnette was a native of Indiana.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Percy Blackburn, Corsicana; a son, Tom Collier, Shreveport, La.; two sisters, Mrs. W. R. Nutting and Mrs. J. F. Stice, both of Gainesville; two grandchildren, Mrs. Bill Clowe, Austin, and Charles Collier, University of Utah, Ogden Utah; and a number of nephews and nieces and other relatives.

"He Wouldn't Stay Away"—As Friend Dog Came—So Friend Dog Went; Looks Like Friend Dog Is Dead

It looks like old Friend Dog is dead.

Stephen Keen, with all of the wisdom of a three and a half year oldster, will tell you that it is so.

And if it is true—if it is true that Stephen's dog is dead—then he will have closed out a short albeit rather varied career for an animal.

In the first place, the dog didn't belong to Stephen. That is, it didn't belong to him right at first.

He was standing here on the porch that afternoon when his father, Curtis A. Keen, 2105 West Sixth Ave., came home.

"This," he announced solemnly and with some of the positiveness that comes with possession, "is my Friend Dog."

He came to the Keen home of his own accord. He liked it and he stayed. The owner was sought, and found, after three months but by that time the original owners, reeling, pushed the dog to him. Stephen and his 20-month-old brother, Jimmie, had won a case out of court. They dog helped them, of course.

As Friend Dog came, so Friend Dog went, only this time the parents of Stephen and Jimmie believe he has gone beyond recall.

A week ago Friend Dog didn't show up.

Then the family started down the long dog-hunt trail. An advertisement in the Daily Sun brought 50 replies from persons who thought they might help. One person called from Athens to say he had seen a dog like the Collie in Kerens.

In a grocery store the driver of an automobile heard of the advertisement and contacted the Keens. He had hit the dog with his car.

That was three blocks from home, and Friend Dog headed that way after losing his battle with the automobile.

The driver offered to replace the dog, with another, but the offer was rejected. The driver didn't think the dog was too badly injured, but didn't know, of course.

That was the last seen of the pet.

It might be added that Stephen knew it all of the time.

The first day the dog was gone he simply sounded an obituary: "He got killed. He wouldn't stay away from me if he wasn't dead."

He Played It Safe

It is not probable that "here walks abroad a person who would steal an ironing board, but Patrolman R. E. Steele of the police department wasn't taking any chances.

When he found one left in front of W. M. Tatum Hardware Tuesday night, he notified Ralph Tatum.

Tatum had the patrolman leave it at the Ric Theatre.

CORSICANA, TEX., FEB. 11, 1949

A NEW CONVENTION

An untried and generally forgotten way to amend the Constitution is brought up by Philip J. Schuyler, a Brooklyn member of the New York Legislature. He plans to introduce a resolution asking Congress to call a constitutional convention to abolish the electoral college. If a resolution like this is passed by two thirds of the states, the Constitution requires Congress to call such a convention.

There has been no federal constitutional convention since the gathering of 1787 which drew up the original document. State constitutional conventions are common; they usually contain a highly superior group of delegates, and do valuable work in bringing the local fundamental law up to date. A federal convention would find several possible improvements besides the abolition of the electoral college. One possible subject might be an amendment substituting a majority for the two thirds vote now required for senatorial ratification of treaties. Such an amendment would never get through the Senate; the only way to adopt it would be through a constitutional convention.

Some persons profess alarm over the possibilities of such a convention, which they fear might produce all sorts of radical measures. Such has not been the experience with state conventions. In any case, no amendment would be valid until it was ratified by three fourths of the states. Anyone who has had experience in getting 36 out of the 48 states to agree on one proposal will recognize that it is not likely to be achieved for just any old idea.

DISLOYALTY IN 1812

Some Americans are troubled about the loyalty of certain citizens in the event of war. One wonders what their reaction would have been about the disaffection of whole sections, such as was seen in the War of 1812. In his new history of that war, Francis F. Bierne, associate editor of the Baltimore Sun, records that the Massachusetts Senate, controlled by the anti-war Federalists, disapproved of the rejoicing over our naval victories.

The Massachusetts body passed this resolution: "That in a war like the present, waged without justifiable cause and prosecuted in a manner which indicates that conquest and ambition are its real motives, it is not becoming a moral and religious people to express any approbation of military or naval exploits which are not immediately connected with the defense of our sea and soil."

That seems very near to giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

A REVIVED GERMANY

Drew Middleton, in the New York Times, describes the Allies in Germany as resembling policemen who have taken matches away from a firebug and intend to see that he doesn't get any more. They have not yet conquered the firebug's love for fires, however.

Middleton says that German nationalism is now beginning to have a strong revival. This spirit cannot be done away with. It must, however, be restrained by the agencies of the occupation forces and guided by education. Three weapons of restraint have been or are being forged.

The Military Security Board, which will function in connection with the International Authority for the Ruhr, sponsors an inspection system which will watch particularly the development of scientific research in Germany in order that it may not turn in the direction of war. Besides these two restraining forces, the Occupation Statute, now being discussed in London, is intended to act in some respects as would a peace treaty. It is expected to determine the amount and kind of power to be given the West German government. The education of the public is expected slowly to affect the thought of the German people and guide it into democratic channels.

Everything seems to be under fair control. But that intangible yet powerful force, the spirit of a people, is something which is hard to change. Great Britain, the United States, and France have a long row to hoe in Germany.

WAITING

A chap getting along in years took pencil and paper and did some figuring and estimated that he had spent two years of his life in waiting for elevators, cars, buses, trains and other forms of transportation.

Others also have thought with sadness of the accumulated hours spent in this kind of waiting, and some have planned systematic occupational therapy for these periods, such as learning a new language or mastering some other subject. John Kieran, of radio and literary note, whose memory encompasses an amazing range of information, says that he collected much of it by reading while waiting for trains and buses and riding on them.

Unfortunately such a systematic utilization of spare time is likely to be regarded as an eccentric bore by his family and neighbors. Another use which might be made of waiting time is for resting the mind and body. Almost no one knows how to relax while waiting for transportation to show up, especially if it is two minutes behind schedule.

DIFFERENCE OF IDEAS

"There is no difference between Socialists and Communists," is a frequent comment of the opponents of both. It would be hard to find a short sentence which is so completely wrong.

It would be more correct to say, "There are no more bitter enemies than Socialists and Communists." Wherever the Communists have come into power, the first group that they have tried to kill off has been the Socialists. They do not have the same ideas or the same goals, and do not get along together.

KEEPING COWS

The United Nations Trusteeship Council is trying to arrive at a solution for a problem which, while seems to have little to do with international affairs, and seems hard to take seriously, presents a difficulty to the Belgian administrators of Ruanda-Urundi.

The native inhabitants of this United Nations trust area in the Belgian Congo have evolved a unique way of calculating social prestige. A man's height in the social scale in Ruanda-Urundi is measured by the number of cows he owns. Social climbers may get the blame for the fact that a million cattle, more or less, are living in the limited area of grass land. They are not used for food and their poor quality makes them an easy prey to disease. Pasturage

Duke Gets His Tractor

Duke Thomas bought a farm with the money he'd saved in the Service, but he couldn't get a tractor. He needed it badly, but was tenth on the local dealer's list.

"Tell you what," old man Peters says. "If those nine fellows ahead of you agree, you'll get the next one I get in." "No, thanks," says Duke. "I'll just take my turn."

But old Peters mails out nine postcards. And the other day he tells Duke his tractor will be in next week. "I simply wrote the facts to the fellows ahead of you. They decided it."

THE DAY'S TASKS.

The countless tasks of day go on and on.
At dawn we wake to do them all again.
Yet those who find the strength for them have gone
And idle at the window must remain.
Watching the tollers braving
snow and rain,
Aglow with health and vigor
everyone,
Seeking some goal their hearts
are set upon,
Wonder if they of every loss complain?

What mattered little disappointments then
Or those small failures of their younger years?
Now 'twould be good to face
them all again,
Knowing how soon grim worry disappears.
Those cares that fretted them so long ago,
Had they the strength, they would rejoice to know.

ought to be reduced in order to provide space for growing food crops, but the natives refuse to do this, and the food problem is becoming acute for the human population.

The recalcitrance of human nature, where a change in custom is concerned, sometimes creates a barrier to the application of common sense to the simplest problems. This characteristic complicates the proceedings of other agencies in the United Nations. Nothing is so hard to change as the conventions of a people.

BRITISH SCANDALS

One of the few scandals in British politics is recalled by the death of James H. Thomas, colonial secretary in the first Labor Party cabinet twenty years ago. A few years later it was revealed that he had told two friends about the cabinet's secret budget plans, and that they had used the information to make a profit. Though he was not charged with making any personal gain out of the transaction public opinion forced him to resign his seat in Parliament, and ended his public career.

Curiously enough Thomas' offense was repeated recently by another Labor cabinet member, Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the exchequer, a position corresponding to that of our secretary of the treasury. He told some friends in advance of proposed tax changes, and was forced to resign.

Men are shorter-lived than women, says Dr. James B. Hamilton of the Long Island College of Medicine. This sex difference in long life also applies to worms. Some women will say that they knew men were worms.

How fleeting is fame! General Eisenhower was challenged by a guard the other day when he tried to enter the Pentagon building in Washington.

Sometimes a fellow may start out on a shoestring and make a go of it. And then again he may lose not only the shoestring but also the shoe.

Lads, Lassies Bury Powell Teams

The State Home Lads and Lassies warmed up for the east zone District 19-B cage tourney last night by registering one-sided wins over the Powell boys and girls in exhibition games on the State Home court.

The Lads buried the Powell boys, 83-15, with Wallace Mitchell leading the scoring with 24 tallies.

The Lassies won over the Powell girls, 34-3. Flora Alice Anders was high pointer for the Lassies, ringing 20 baskets.

The State Home teams will take part in the east zone tourney, which begins at Richland's gym tonight.

Second Methodist Fellowship Fete Attended By 125

A total of 125 persons attended the second in a series of Fellowship suppers at the First Methodist Church Wednesday night.

After leading a song service, the pastor, Dr. Bohmalk, told of the ministers week now under way at SMU, including a brief history of the occasion, and told of numerous gifts given SMU by laymen and laywomen. Dr. Bohmalk is attending these services but returned for the Wednesday night supper.

The ministers week is attended by over 1,000 ministers this week from eight states, making up the South Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church. The speaker gave a brief history of the three platform speakers for the week, explaining that the idea began some twenty years ago with a $10,000 gift by Mr. and Mrs. Fondren, of Houston, who at one time lived in Corsicana. Another $10,000 was added by Mrs. Geo. Peyton of Mexico, and an additional $10,000 by the Dick Jackson family, one time residents of Corsicana. He told how over $3,000,000 for buildings at SMU had been given by laymen. The pastor reported attending the ground breaking Tuesday of the first unit for the Perkins School of Theology.

ROLLED BALE..

PACKAGE FOR GREEN LEAVES

Leaves are sealed within the bale, safe and dry.

Rolled bale is convenient to handle — will not buckle.

Hay unrolls into a wide, soft, leafy mat, appetizing to livestock. Can be fed whole in feed rack without waste.

Roto-baling is entirely automatic.

The tractor operator is the entire baling crew.

For the first time hay can be baled without mowing or slicing. Hay is rolled up like a rug, tied with ordinary binder twine. Retains the quality of loose, leafy hay. Bale is weather resistant, easy to feed, easy to handle. The Roto-Baler is the only machine that makes a rolled bale.

Ex-Corsicanan Heads Fighter Plane Fleet

FORT WORTH, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Forty-three of the air force's newest fighters dropped down here yesterday after a 1,631-mile non-stop flight from Kingston, Jamaica.

It was the longest over-water flight for the double-fuselage F-52 twin Mustangs.

The planes snapped into close formation to "buzz" Carswell air force base before landing. Col. Cy Wilson, the wing commander, touched the runway first with his ship. The former Corsicana filler described the mission as "entirely successful."

Committees Meet At IOOF Home On Wednesday Night

Numerous questions and resolutions for enactment of legislation at the annual sessions of the Grand Lodge of Texas, IOOF, in Waco, March 19-23, were considered and discussed at a joint meeting of the board of control for the Odd Fellows News, official publication, and the state for the order committee of the grand lodge at the IOOF Home here Wednesday night.

The meeting was called by Frank R. Rundell of Austin, grandmaster, and Sherman C. Reed, editor of the Odd Fellows News and chairman of the state of the order committee, presided. The grandmaster presented 13 recommendations dealing with various phases of the order for study and consideration by these important committees. A number of resolutions will be presented to the grand body for changes and new laws.

Members of the state of the order committee attending included:

IN AND OUT OF SERVICE

Randy Farmer, son of O. W. Farmer of Opelousas, La., formerly of Corsicana, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Catharine Watkins, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Farmer, Corsicana.

Farmer was discharged Dec. 29, 1948, after 3 1/2 years service in the U. S. Navy in the South Pacific, including being stationed at Pearl Harbor, Japan, China, Philippine Islands and Korea. He served on the USS Iowa and USS Duluth. He held the rank of electronic technician 3rd when discharged.

The chairman, Forest Kyle, Bangs; Dr. H. L. Stewart, Navasota; Mike Peveto, Beaumont; Leland Dupree, Dallas; Clarence M. White, Clarksville.

The board of control of the publication included the grandmaster; C. M. McLaughlin, Tyler, deputy grandmaster; Ted Jasper, Edinburg, grand warden, along with Dr. Stewart, Ira S. Cole, Greenville, and Ralph L. Tippet, Tyler, representing the board of trustees. Others attending included S. M. Williams, Dallas, grand secretary, and J. I. Elliott, Corsicana, trustee.

Crop Insurance 1949 Program Is Explained Here

Approximately 200 agriculturalists of Navarro county attended a series of meetings at the courthouse Wednesday when the Navarro County Cotton Crop Insurance program for 1949 was explained in detail.

O. B. Briggs, state crop insurance director, College Station, was the principal speaker at the sessions sponsored by the county AAA organization for the benefit of all the farmers in this area.

Jack Hollingsworth and George Eichenhour, detail specialists from College Station, explained the details to the local community committee members and county crop insurance salesmen during the afternoon.

Community committee members, Veterans Administration instructors and a number of veterans' agricultural classes, FFA boys, Farm Home Administration, local crop insurance adjusters and various lending agencies were represented.

R. J. (Bob) Claque, AAA secretary, stated any person interested in crop insurance who fails to get the desired information from anyone in his community is invited to call by the AAA offices in the basement of the courthouse and full details and explanations will be given.

Club News

Purdon 4-H Club.

The Purdon Home Demonstration Club met on Feb. 7 at the home of Mrs. Elton Skinner, with 19 members answering roll call with "My Wish for the New Year."

Mrs. Irene Hubbard gave a demonstration in pre-tailoring. She pin-fitted a coat pattern and showed how to mark and make darts.

She will begin a tailoring school on Feb. 15 at Mrs. Skinner's home.

The hostess served sandwiches, cookies, and lemonade. The next meeting is set for Feb. 21 at the home of Mrs. Ethel Brown.

Recent Fairfield Bride Is Honored

FAIRFIELD, Feb. 8.—(Sp.)—Mrs. L. J. Davis honored Mrs. Cannon Awaft, a recent bride, with a gift tea Friday afternoon.

Receiving the guests were Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Hugh Harris, the honoree, Mrs. M. C. Awaft, and Mrs. Lloyd Awaft. Wanda Lou Awaft presided at the bride's table.

The bride's table, laid in a cut-work of linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of deep red carnations and fern with white tapers and a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Roy Kelly, Jr., and Mrs. Forrest Wood presided at the silver coffee service. Dainty refreshments of open sandwiches, crackettes, cookies, and coffee were served to more than 70 guests who called during the reception hours from 3:30 to 5:30.

Mrs. Hugh Wootton, and Mrs. Roger Steward directed guests in the dining room.

Mrs. Louis Glazener and Mrs. Dwayne Chappell were in charge of the room where the gifts were arranged for display.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Wootton, Mrs. Glazener, Mrs. Chappell, Mrs. Steward, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Eugene Davis.

Corsage Conservation—

Marshall Plan Praised By Teacher From England In Rotary Club Talk

Great Britain as a unit, and South Wales in particular, would have been rather proud Wednesday of their brown-haired, neatly-smiling ambassador with corsage, Miss Nancy Whitcombe, a teacher of Newport, South Wales, and at present an English teacher in the Corsicana High school on an exchange basis, came to town.

"I have been asked," she told members of the Corsicana Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon at the Navarro Hotel, "what I think of your men."

"I must admit I have been so fascinated—and I use the word in all of its purity—so fascinated by the ties you wear that I have not as yet been able to get farther than that," she smiled.

"By all laws of mathematics I know that I should see a tie of a pattern I have seen before, but I haven't yet."

Record Crowd.
Miss Whitcombe attracted an almost record crowd to the luncheon. Members of the educational committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and of the Corsicana school faculty attended. She was on schedule to address Corsicana school teachers at the high school at 8:30 p. m. on similarity and difference of the English and American systems.

She was introduced by G. J. Jackson, principal of the junior high school at Corsicana. Ernest Jones, program chairman, introduced Jackson.

As English as Fog.
The speaker, as English as fog, and as penetrating, threw all of her rather diminutive self into support of the Marshall Plan, declaring it a "stroke of statesmanship."

She put a proposition up to the Rotarians and made a declaration at once and the same time.

"Our diet consists of a superficial," she said. "They are not important. Let us put sentimentality aside, and not consider it at all. You must admit it is good business that our country must once again be prosperous, must once again be strong."

She declared the Marshall Plan, by pouring long-needed dollars into the shattered industrial pools of all of England, is paving the way. "The whole countryside is plastered with posters reading 'Export or Expire,' and 'Work or What?'" she said.

"We must have our exports to survive, and we can only have the exports by rebuilding our broken industries."

"I know not of France, or Germany, or other countries. But I know of my South Wales. Within a few miles of my home I see tractors on the farms, Marshall Plan tractors. A factory in my town has returned to making biscuits, having been used to make bolts and screws for war use. New belting and machinery have been installed in the coal mines."

Short of Food.
Britain is still short on food, and the reason is that Britain is also short on dollars, the teacher explained.

"All money is used for industry. We must export to buy machinery, to buy food. It is sound business, too, that you should help Britain to export goods."

"I admit," she declared, "that when we saw fine biscuits—cookies, as you say—and leading china on display with the tag 'for export only' on them, I did not believe it."

"But in Dallas I found our china for sale. And in a grocery I found the biscuits, and I could buy a box and send it back home and

March Of Dimes Campaign Funds Total $1,468.81

The Zion Rest's School has poured $70.50 into the March of Dimes campaign, according to a list of subscriptions released Wednesday by Embury Ferguson, chairman of

FOR FDR AND POLIO
The greatest March of Dimes lover of them all—Franklin D. Roosevelt—showed up locally 296 times this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Pevchouse and their son had been piling up Roosevelt "times" to be given during the 1949 campaign.

It was announced Wednesday that their contribution to the fund totaled $29.00, all with the Roosevelt likeness.

The drive and head of the Navarro County chapter of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation. Ferguson announced the total so far raised in the campaign $1,468.81.

Other schools were putting their nickels and dimes into the drive. The Corsicana Junior high school gave $19.85. The Roane school brought in $13.46, and the Roane Negro school, $11.10. The Emhouse Negro school gave $4.20, and the Jackson High School, $13.72. The Powell school contribution totaled $12.10.

prove that it was true."

The speaker told of the collapse of Britain as a result of the last war.

"Before the war we could buy a Ford car for $350. Our standard of living was fairly high. We were prosperous," she said.

"The war caused havoc to the trade of the whole world. Our exports failed completely. Shipping was devastated. One out of every three ships was sunk. Factories were damaged. Houses—one out of every three—were destroyed or damaged."

"We have had to sell most of our investments to pay for the war."

"And Britain has spent the wealth of our generation to pay for the last war."

"The work of the Marshall Plan," she declared, "to us is a most important question."

Guests included Rev. Don Swain of Waxahatchie, Ed Tait of Houston, John B. Graham of Waxahatchie, visiting Rotarians; Jerry Gatson and Bill McGraw, junior Rotarians; Howell Brister of Kerens; Judge Max Triplett of Hillsboro; George Gibson of Dallas.

Corsicana guests were Ray Walker, president of Navarro Junior College; W. H. Norwood, superintendent of schools; R. A. Armistead, high school principal; Pete Allen, junior high school principal; Miss Sarah Holman, Lee school principal; Mrs. Lewis David, Mrs. O. L. Albritton, Paul Miller, Dr. Matthew Arnold, Dr. W. K. Special Programs In Corsicana For Feb. 23 Observing Brotherhood Week

Plans have been completed for the observance of Brotherhood Week in Corsicana under the direction of Dr. Curtis Koen, president of the Rotary Club, featured by a program Wednesday, February 23, with speakers representing the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The team to speak at the various appearances will be the Very Rev. Vincent Wolf of Tyler of the Church of the Immaculate Conception; Rev. William Dickinson, associate minister, Highland Park Methodist church, Dallas; and Dr. Levi A. Olan, Temple Emanuel, Dallas.

The first program of the day will be at 10:30 a. m. at the Senior High School auditorium. The public is especially invited to this meeting. The group will also speak at the State Home auditorium at 2:30 p. m. on that date.

A huge meeting will be held in connection with the 12:15 p. m. Rotary luncheon-meeting with the team to provide the program.

There is a possibility the trio may appear before a Kinsloe House program early in the afternoon but details have not been perfected.

The committee of arrangements includes W. H. Norwood, R. A. Armistead, Ray L. Waller and Moyne L. Kelly, schools; Glenn Thompson, Civilians; Gaston Gooch Lions; Curtis Koen, Rotary; Mrs. L. S. Koen, Kinsloe House; Alen Carraway, PTA Council; Herman Brown, Chamber of Commerce; Rev. Herbert G. Dudley, ministerial association; Father V. Graf, Catholic; Rabbi Joseph Shapiro, Jews; Mayor Herbert Braselton, city officials; Paul Moore press, and Ernest Jones, radio.

Man Arrested On DWI Charge
Henry Horn alias Lover Horn faced charges of driving while intoxicated Thursday. The complaint was filed before Judge W. H. Johnson who transferred the case to the county court Thursday.

The man was arrested by City Policemen R. E. Steele and R. L. Brown Wednesday night after the 1937 Ford automobile he was driving crashed into two parked vehicles.

Police records indicate the car belonged to a Purdon resident. According to police reports a jeep belonging to W. E. Dodds and parked in the 100 block of West Fourteenth Ave., and a Ford pickup truck belonging to R. F. Stone and parked in the 100 block of West Thirteenth Avenue were hit.

Horn was taken to P. and S. Hospital for observation, later removed to the city jail.

Opportunities In Regular Army For College Men

Opportunities now exist for college graduates to obtain direct appointments as Second Lieutenants, Regular Army, M-Sgt. Wm. Rosser, in charge of the local Air Force recruiting station, 1112 West Collin street, announced today.

Appointments during 1949 will be made in two major increments. In March for those graduating prior thereto and August for those becoming eligible by virtue of graduation from a recognized college or university during the spring of 1949. The foregoing will not, however, operate to preclude immediate appointment of those who may be selected during the interim periods.

Selected applicants will be commissioned in the Regular Army.

Funeral Services For L. L. Powell Held Thursday

Funeral services for Lonnie L. Powell, 60, 1242 West Second avenue, former county official, who died at the Navarro Clinic early Wednesday morning, were held from the First Methodist church here Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery.

The rites were conducted by Dr. Erwin F. Bohnfalk, pastor of the church, and Rev. M. B. Howell, pastor of the First Methodist church in Waco, formerly a Methodist pastor in Corsicana, Kerens and Blooming Grove.

A native of Monroe, La., Powell was reared in the Barry community. He was a teacher and merchant and served as county clerk here 1930-1939 and was county judge from 1945-1949. Ill health prevented his serving the last half of 1948 and Joe D. Huffstutler, presiding judge, designated Powell as his successor in the Democratic primaries last summer.

Judge Powell was a prominent Methodist, having served as Sunday School superintendent in Blooming Grove and being a steward for many years. He was a Mason, holding Hella Temple Shrine membership in Dallas. He was secretary of the Airline Highway Association, seeking a new highway designation from Fort Worth to Houston via Frost, Dawson, Teahucana and Mexia during his tenure as county judge of Navarro county.

All apartments of the Navarro county courthouse closed at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Powell was a veteran of World War I.

Surviving are his wife of Corsicana, two sons, L. Powell, Jr., Houston, and E. J. Powell, Corsicana; four grandchildren, a brother, W. D. Powell, Sherman; five sisters, Mrs. J. W. Varnell, Corsicana; Mrs. J. H. Bolin and Mrs. R. E. Bolin, Dallas; Mrs. Clara Arp, El Paso, and Miss Pearl Powell, Barry, and other relatives.

Funeral services were held Tuesday night at the P. and S. Hospital, were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Richland Methodist church. Burial was in the Prairie Point cemetery. The rites were conducted by Rev. Van P. Morrison, Methodist minister. She was a native of Kentucky.

Mr., Mrs. Nix Entertained With Farewell Party

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Nix, before they left for their future home in Leavenworth, Kansas, were entertained Monday evening by their close friends in the Fifth Avenue Church of Christ with a farewell party at the home of Mrs. Hawkins Scarborough, 516 South Fifteenth street. Immediately after the party the couple left by automobile for Tulsa, Okla., where they were to stop before going on to Leavenworth.

A silver coffee and tea service was presented to the honored guests by their friends, and a number of comic gifts also were offered them. Pictures were made of the event.

Approximately sixty friends shared in the courtesy and in the contests and games which featured the evening's entertainment. A musical background was provided by Miss Ann Scarborough and Miss Mary Elizabeth Acoc.

A Valentine theme was observed in decorating, with red roses and gladioli used in the reception room. White carnations and hyacinths were massed at the dining room table's center and given accent by ribbon streamers adorned with hearts. Mrs. Eugene Pitts, wife of the minister of the church, presided at the coffee service, and Mrs. Joe Morris served cake.

A number of other courtesies also have been given for Mr. and Mrs. Nix. He has served as manager for F. W. Woolworth branch store here for eighteen years, coming to Corsicana from Abilene.

Friendly Thoughts by ELBERT HAYS

The dawn is a promise of the day's opportunities; the sunset a time for rest and contemplation. There is in each moment, a dawn of perception, a time for action and one of fulfillment.

Superb distinction in every detail is an outstanding quality of our monuments. In simple elegance, impressive design, and distinguished craftsmanship, they are truly comparable to the finest handiwork of the world's great artisans

Medical Prices Will Increase

Shortages always raise prices. The Texas Medical Association, by restricting enrollment in Texas medical schools to barely enough to replace the retiring and retirement has cut down our supply of doctors, especially in our rural areas, thereby causing a shortage and higher fees for services, while $3,000 pre-med students find the gates barred against them.

This same association now plans to get control of the supply of doctors, competitive healing professions so they can cut off replacements in these healing professions and make the shortage even more acute and thus raise the prices higher than today.

The Basic Science Bill (S. B. 63) is designed to give the Medical Association complete control of all branches of the healing arts and is being pushed by unlimited funds and a high-priced lobby.

If we, the people, do not write, phone or visit our senators and representatives, we will have no say in the legislation forced upon us.

This is a call for action. If you want to know the names of your legislators, Address letters to them at Capitol Station, Austin, Texas.

New Cotton Crop Insurance Program Opens in County

A new monetary cotton crop insurance will be available to Navarro county farmers during 1949 and applications are now being received. Triple-A Secretary Bob Claque announced Tuesday.

The program operates under the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. Navarro county has been allotted a cheaper rate and higher pyments than any adjoining counties, Claque said.

During 1948 cotton crop insurance was on the basis of an average yield, but this year rates are set up to 80c per acre on each of three areas established by officials. Insured coverage of the areas are as follows:

Area 1 at $11 per acre.
Area 2 at $17 per acre.
Area 3 at $22 per acre.

Claque said the average coverage in his county would be $18. For information regarding the insurance, farmers were urged to contact their local commitment, county committee, crop insurance salesmen or the Triple-A office. The government program expires

Gold Footballs Presented Navarro College Gridsters By Local Lions

The Corsicana Lions Club played Santa Claus to the members of the Navarro Junior College football team of 1948 Tuesday, presenting each member of the squad with a gold football memento of a championship season.

Forty-one of the gridgers were present, together with Coaches Ken Clark and Guyle Akridge, and they received their awards from Ray Waller, president of the college and a Lion.

Jack Sisco, local automobile dealer and a long-time sports figure in Texas, told the gridgers in the principal speech, that "good football teams and good morals go hand in hand." He paid tribute to the coaches and the boys for their wonderful season.

Education Important.

Sisco sounded a note of caution, pointing out that a boy should "go to school for an education."

"When you get out of school and try for a job, you only get what you can earn."

A bumper turnout of Lions and guests was on hand, and consumed a delicious meal, with chicken pan-pie as the main course.

City Is Made Defendant In $20,000 Suit

E. S. (Tippy) Sheets, Jr., seeks $20,000 from the City of Corsicana in a suit brought by Norris W. Lovett, local attorney, in the Thirteenth Judicial District court at 9 a. m. Tuesday.

The petition alleged that he had a five-year contract with the City of Corsicana for the Natatorium properties, beginning April 20, 1943, for $500 per year—$41.67 per month, with a stipulation that if the plaintiff spent that much on improvements per year—that would be all that was required.

Tells of Money Spent.

He claims that he "expended not less than $1,000 per year" and under those conditions he was entitled to have an additional five-year lease, based on conversations with members of the city administration, the time of which conversations were not set out in the document.

Sheets said the contract was terminated by the city about May 20, 1948, and claims it should have been extended until May 20, 1953.

The petition alleged the plaintiff was "forcibly evicted by the City of Corsicana shortly after May 20, 1948."

Sheets pointed out in the petition that he was making $400 per year profit from the operation of the properties—conducting bowling alleys, skating rinks and a dance floor.

City Attorney Julius C. Jacobs at the city Tuesday morning issued the following summary:

Statement By Jacobs.
"The City of Corsicana leased the old Natatorium property to Tippy Sheets in 1943, giving him a five-year lease contract. No rent was paid to the City of Corsicana during that five years. Under the written contract, the lease expired on May 15, 1948. He was permitted to remain in possession of the property until the lease expired, and then I, as city attorney, advised that suit be brought for the possession of this property."

"Since the city retained possession of this property, it has been paid, and is now collecting, $230.00 per month from the Texas State Guard."

"The present administration made no new agreement with Sheets as to any extension of the lease term. In fact, he was invited to appear before the commission on two different occasions, but he did not go before the city commission to try to adjust the differences."

"If any agreement was made to extend the lease by any previous administration, as is alleged in the petition, such agreement does not appear in any official minutes of the city secretary, and it is apparent that no official action in that regard was ever taken by the commission at any duly organized meeting."

Joe M. Seale Is Injured In Fall

Joe M. Seale, employee of Precinct 1, Navarro county, was injured in a fall at the county barn located in northeast Corsicana Tuesday morning.

X-Ray examination at the Navarro Clinic failed to reveal any fractured bones, but he sustained a bruised chest.

A McCammon ambulance answered the call.
